This Calendar-Journal is dedicated to two special people

In Honor of

Sue Kahn

NTSAD Executive Director

In Loving Memory of

Sue Sirot

This Calendar-Journal is dedicated to the beloved memory of

Sue Sirot

Sue, who lost a daughter to Tay-Sachs disease years ago, was dedicated to the mission of NTSAD. Along with her husband Gus, Sue helped to raise funds to support education and carrier screening for prevention and grants for research to find a treatment and cure for Tay-Sachs and related genetic diseases. The Annual Calendar has been the fundraising project that Sue and Gus have led for many decades, raising thousands of dollars each year to fund NTSAD programs. The NTSAD community is grateful for all that Sue did in her lifetime as an NTSAD volunteer in the New York Area and as a super fundraiser. May she rest in peace, knowing we will continue to support the mission of NTSAD.

In Memory of Sue Sirot

Twin Great-Granddaughters Talia & Vania

This Calendar-Journal honors

Sue Kahn

NTSAD Executive Director for fourteen incredible years

We honor Sue for her extraordinary dedication to the mission of NTSAD. We remain grateful to her for creating a culture of unprecedented collaboration, advancing research leading toward multiple clinical trials, and above all else, supporting families. Thanks to Sue's leadership, NTSAD remains a leading patient advocacy organization that provides comprehensive resources, programs and services, while also continuing to drive and fund research.

14 Years of Driving Research, Forging Collaboration and Fostering Community

June 2021

Dear NTSAD Community,

It's with mixed emotions that I share with you that after nearly 14 years, I am stepping down from my role as NTSAD's executive director at the end of October. I am looking forward to starting a new chapter in my life, knowing that NTSAD remains strong. I will help facilitate a smooth transition in leadership and support the board of directors who has initiated the search for my successor.

It has been my great honor to lead NTSAD. I am proud of the extraordinary progress in research as well as our ongoing efforts to put the needs of families first with comprehensive resources, programs, and services. Together, we have accomplished more than I ever hoped when I joined NTSAD in 2007. Currently, there are 14 drug development programs and clinical trials underway, and industry continues to invest in developing therapies for Tay-Sachs, Canavan, GM1 gangliosidosis, and Sandhoff diseases.

NTSAD is one of the oldest and most respected patient advocacy groups in the rare community and remains in a position of financial strength with healthy reserves. I am immensely grateful to our dedicated board of directors and compassionate NTSAD staff.

In addition, NTSAD has a five-year strategic plan in place, and recently broadened research direction focusing on clinical development, early diagnosis, newborn screening, and translational research. During the last two decades, NTSAD invested in much of the early research that has led to today's drug development programs and clinical trials. Since 2002, NTSAD has awarded more than $4 million in research grants that have been leveraged to more than $30 million in additional grants from the National Institutes of Health and other institutions.

The people, the organization, and my work all mean so much to me. This role has allowed me to connect with inspiring people, starting with the families who allow us to share in the darkest and brightest days of their journey, and who will move mountains to advocate for their child or themselves, support others, and raise money for research. I also have been honored to work closely with brilliant and dedicated experts who are making a brighter future possible through research, clinical care, or developing new treatments. It has been a blessing to meet so many people who have influenced me and touched my heart.

The work continues, and I look forward to celebrating with you when effective treatments are found. My heart will remain with the NTSAD Community, always.

With gratitude,

SUE KAHN TO RECEIVE THE WORLDSYMPOSIUM™ 2022 PATIENT ADVOCATE LEADER (PAL) AWARD

Each year, WORLDSymposium recognizes one individual for patient advocacy leadership in the field of lysosomal disease. The Patient Advocate Leader (PAL) award will be presented at WORLDSymposium 2022 on February 8, 2022.

Sue Kahn is a leader known for her business acumen and ability to build relationships, collaborate, and drive research at one of the oldest and most respected patient advocacy groups in the rare disease community. For 14 years, Sue has served as the Executive Director of the National Tay-Sachs & Allied Diseases Association (NTSAD) that supports families affected by Tay-Sachs, Canavan, GM1, and Sandhoff.

Since 2007, Sue has used her industry business development experience to broaden NTSAD's network of industry leaders, scientists, and clinicians, thereby deepening NTSAD's commitment to multi-faceted collaborations, including the Tay-Sachs Gene Therapy Consortium. In her role Sue has shepherded NTSAD's investment of more than $4 million in research grants that have been leveraged to more than $30 million in additional grants from the National Institutes of Health and other institutions.

Under Sue's leadership, NTSAD is on the cusp of having effective treatments for the patients affected by the four diseases that NTSAD represents. Currently, there are 14 drug development programs and clinical trials underway, and industry continues to invest in developing therapies. Sue ensures that the patients' voices and experiences are heard and incorporated into these programs.

In addition, Sue has grown the organization's assets, staff, and program offerings, including comprehensive resources, programs, and services for families. Recently, Sue led the process to broaden NTSAD's research direction to focus on clinical development, early diagnosis, newborn screening, and translational research. These programs will be advanced with the hiring of NTSAD's first Research Director.

CONGRATULATIONS, Sue, for this well-deserved award!

Sanofi Genzyme Honors Dr. Edwin Kolodny and Makes a Gift to NTSAD

Sanofi Genzyme honored rare disease pioneer Dr. Edwin Kolodny during the 30th Anniversary celebration of the company's Rare Humanitarian Program. The Rare Humanitarian Program was created by former Genzyme CEO Henri Termeer to ensure treatments for rare diseases are made available globally, and so that no patient is ever left behind.

Through the Rare Humanitarian Program, Dr. Kolodny provided care to individuals and trained healthcare professionals around the world. At the celebration Sanofi Genzyme made an extraordinary $30,000 gift to NTSAD in honor of Dr. Kolodny's lifetime of service to the rare community.

Thank you Dr. Kolodny for your enduring legacy and selfless care of the rare community, and thank you Sanofi Genzyme for your contribution, support, and partnership.

Sue Kahn helped pay tribute to Dr. Kolodny speaking at the event:

"Dr. Kolodny, it is an incredible honor to be here to recognize you and represent the countless NTSAD families you have served for more than 50 years.

From when we first met in 2007, I have been awed by you and your remarkable recollections of each patient and their families. Whether it's a child or an adult, you see the person, not just their disease. One Mom told me that you're her HERO! Another Mom shared how much it meant to her that you simply wanted to help her daughter.

Dr. Kolodny, your life has been marked by graciousness, compassion, and chesed; your overflowing loving-kindness for your patients and their families. Thank you from the bottom of our hearts.

And thank you, Sanofi Genzyme, for your generous donation to NTSAD and unwavering support of rare families around the world."

NTSAD Welcomes New Leader

Dear NTSAD Community,

I am honored to serve as NTSAD's next leader. Having dedicated several years to healthcare advocacy organizations during three decades in the corporate, academic, and non-profit sectors, I look forward to building on NTSAD's past successes and embracing its future. With more than a dozen drug development and clinical trials underway, it is undoubtedly a time of great promise for NTSAD families. In the coming weeks, I welcome the opportunity to connect with our courageous families, Board members, industry stakeholders, researchers, and clinicians and join my voice with theirs in the fight against Tay-Sachs, Canavan, GM1, and Sandhoff diseases.

Kathleen M. Flynn, CEO, NTSAD

Supporting Families: Navigating Clinical Trials

Today there are 8 active clinical trials to find effective treatments for Canavan, GM1, Tay-Sachs and Sandhoff diseases because 64 years ago six families came together, had hope and got to work.

Clinical trials are experiments. There are risks. A few have promise, but it is still too soon to know. But we won't give up our efforts until we find effective treatments.

Current Clinical Trials

Aspa Therapeutics – Canavan gene therapy

Myrtelle – Canavan gene therapy

Lysogene – GM1 gene therapy

Passage Bio – GM1 gene therapy

Sio Gene Therapies – GM1 gene therapy

Sanofi Genzyme – substrate reduction therapy for GM2
(adults and secondary arm for juvenile GM1, GM2)

Sio Gene Therapies – GM2 gene therapy

Taysha Gene Therapy – GM2 gene therapy

Clinical Trials: What You Need to Know

In 2020-2021, a number of clinical trials were opened for enrollment for Canavan, GM1 Gangliosidosis, GM2 Sandhoff and Tay-Sachs in each of their forms.

What is a Clinical Trial?

In a clinical trial, participants receive specific interventions according to a research plan or protocol created by the investigators. The investigators try to determine the safety and efficacy of the intervention by measuring certain outcomes in the participants. These interventions (which include therapies) can be done to evaluate the effects of those interventions on health-related biomedical or behavioral outcomes.

How Do We Know if a Therapy is Working? What Are Endpoints?

Endpoints are the outcomes evaluated in a clinical study. These are determined before the study begins, often by studying the progression of the disease in patients. For example, one endpoint for a child with infantile Tay-Sachs could be the milestone of sitting up or crawling. If a child in a trial is treated and meets that milestone with success, then it shows the therapy may be working. This is why participating in the PIN and natural history studies is important and critical.

Why Are Natural History Studies and the Patient Insights Networks (PIN) Important to Clinical Trials?

Natural history studies document the progression of the disease. The more data there is about the progression of the disease from medical data and patient experience, the clearer the endpoints are to determine whether a therapy is working or not. Therefore, participating in the PIN and natural history studies is important and critical.

How is it Decided Who Can Be in the Trial?

The inclusion standards are set before a clinical trial begins during the trial design, and candidates must meet those standards in order to be considered for participating in a trial. Because these diseases are rare, the number of eligible participants is limited for the first phase of this first-in-human clinical trial.

Why Do Patients Have to Meet Certain Criteria to Be Accepted Into the Trial?

Inclusion criteria are necessary for a successful clinical trial. Inclusion criteria also help minimize risk in a clinical trial and ensure the proposed therapy is safe and effective. Having a successful trial in which risks are minimized and success of the therapy can be shown is important to allow therapies to continue in future trials and to lead to eventual approval.

What Does Phase I/II Mean?

Phase I typically looks at the safety and dosage of the proposed therapy, and Phase II focuses on the efficacy (benefits, effectiveness, does it help) and potential side effects. However, with rare diseases, where there are a limited number of potential candidates, the FDA will often allow the combination of phase I & II which can use fewer patients and may answer the research questions more quickly.

NTSAD Welcomes First Research Director

Valerie Greger, Ph.D. has joined NTSAD as the organization's first Research Director. She is an accomplished academic, scientist and leader with extensive experience in human genetics, genomics, molecular biology, and bioinformatics.

In her role, Valerie will lead NTSAD's research grant program and implement initiatives in clinical development, newborn screening, and early diagnosis. She also will be a resource for communicating scientific and medical information to patients.

Valerie is passionate about creating value from scientific discoveries, transforming ideas into reality and making an impact on patients' lives. Valerie will be working part-time at NTSAD, as she also works with the Yaya Foundation for 4H Leukodystrophy. Her combined experience at these organizations will enhance research in the rare leukodystrophy community.

NTSAD's Board of Directors recently welcomed Valerie where she shared, "Knowledge alone doesn't mean anything until it leads to the building of a product—that's when knowledge can make an impactful change."

Since 2002, NTSAD's Research Initiative has made direct investments of more than $4 million in grants that have been leveraged to more than $30 million of investments in additional research, leading to new therapies.

NTSAD Launches New Round of Research Funding

In partnership with Blu Genes Foundation and Cure for Tay-Sachs Foundation, NTSAD will launch and RFP (request for proposal) process in January for researchers seeking seed grants ranging from $70,000 - $140,000 for one or two years, respectively.

NTSAD will be soliciting proposals for innovative research projects that involve basic research, translational studies or clinical studies in the following diseases: Tay-Sachs, Canavan, GM1, and Sandhoff diseases.

We are interested in all aspects of therapeutic discovery. Projects that focus on understanding the pathophysiology and the role of inflammation in these four disease areas, or the process of myelination and how it is affected by disease are of particular interest.

NTSAD remains committed to advancing and funding research, and first launched its Research Initiative in 2002, which to date has made more than $4 million in grants that have been leveraged to more than $30 million of additional investments in research by other institutions, leading to new therapies.

LOTSS Think Tank Advances Therapies and Research

Nearly 30 researchers, clinicians, industry members, and patient advocates gathered for the 4th Annual Late Onset Tay-Sachs and Sandhoff Disease (LOTSS) Think Tank, a two-day symposium designed to accelerate research toward effective treatments.

During the October event, the group discussed pre-clinical research and innovative methods, new experimental therapeutic approaches, early findings for ongoing clinical trials, the development of meaningful outcome measures, and efforts to establish newborn screening for GM2 as well as GM1 and Canavan disease.

Keynote speaker Jeremy Schmahmann, MD, Massachusetts General Hospital and Harvard Medical School, shared a new perspective on the brain's cerebellar function known for coordinating movement, but it may also regulate cognition and emotional function. Throughout his speech, he emphasized the importance of listening to patients and having them be at the very center of the therapeutic process.

The Think Tank was sparked by Alexis Buryk and was inspired by her twin daughters, who are living with LOTSS. Together the family has raised more than $700,000 for LOTSS research via the Katie & Allie Buryk Fund, and they are sponsors of The Think Tank. NTSAD and National Human Genome Research Institute (NHGRI) help organize the event and steward its ongoing priorities. Special thanks to Cynthia Tifft MD, PhD (NHGRI) and Steve Walkley DVM, PhD (Albert Einstein College of Medicine) for organizing and co-chairing the meeting.

Late Onset Community's Journey to Diagnosis

At NORD's recent Breakthrough Summit, Sanofi Genzyme presented the company's poster illustrating the often-arduous diagnostic journey of patients, caregivers, and families affected by Late-Onset GM2 Gangliosidosis. As the Summit is the largest gathering of key stakeholders in the rare disease community, the information heightens awareness of the heterogeneity of the disease and will help accelerate future diagnosis.

Late-onset GM2 Gangliosidosis Patient Journey

LATE-ONSET TAY SACHS/SANDHOFF (GM2)

- Rare, neurodegenerative lysosomal storage disorders
- Tay Sachs disease is caused by mutations in the HEXA gene which result in excessive accumulation of gangliosides (lipids) in the brain and nerve cells*
- Sandhoff disease results from mutations in the HEXB gene*

OBJECTIVES

Understand the physical and emotional aspects of the patient's journey, including symptom onset, diagnosis, and ongoing disease management.

METHODS

- 18 surveys and interviews with late-onset Tay Sachs/Sandhoff (GM2) patients (n=13) and caregivers (n=5) in the US
- All patients/caregivers 18+ years of age
- 5 interviews with GM2 expert physicians in the US, UK, DE, and ES
- Research currently ongoing; poster summarizes interim findings

CONCLUSIONS

Symptoms typically emerge in childhood or young adulthood. Diagnosis often takes over a decade; common misdiagnoses include Amyotrophic Lateral Sclerosis (ALS) and Spinal Muscular Atrophy (SMA). Treatment is limited to symptomatic management and patients are often frustrated with healthcare providers. Patients lose the ability to perform activities of daily living and fear the complete loss of an independent life.

EXPERT PHYSICIAN PERSPECTIVE

"Neurologists in the community would almost never diagnose GM2. It's difficult for me, and I specialize in rare conditions. It's a multi-systemic storage disorder and extremely rare. We need early referrals and genetic testing to diagnose tough patient cases like GM2."

Advocacy Efforts Lead to Newborn Screening Law in North Carolina

Newborn screening (NBS) is essential for early diagnosis and treatment of rare genetic diseases, like Tay-Sachs, Canavan, GM1 and Sandhoff, particularly for participation in clinical trials. To help ensure that babies born in every state have the same opportunity for early diagnosis and treatment, advocacy groups are working to pass legislation on the local level. The laws, referred to as RUSP (Recommended Uniform Screening Panel) alignment legislation, require states to screen newborn babies for any disorder on the federal RUSP panel. The laws also implement a timeline in which the screening must begin and ensure that resources will be available to fund all conditions added to the RUSP in the future.

Six states have adopted RUSP alignment legislation, including California in 2016, Florida in 2017, and Georgia, Ohio, Arizona, and now North Carolina in 2021. The current momentum of passing this potentially life-saving legislation is a result of the tireless efforts of advocates urging states to keep pace with science.

NTSAD Awards Grant to Sustain Tay-Sachs Sheep

NTSAD has awarded a grant to Heather Gray-Edwards, PhD at the University of Massachusetts Medical School (UMMS) to sustain the flock of Tay-Sachs sheep for the next year for researchers as this sheep model is considered to be the most similar to the Late Onset form of Tay-Sachs in humans.

Animal models that mimic human diseases are essential at all stages of research but are often difficult and expensive to create. Large animals, such as the Tay-Sachs Disease sheep, are particularly valuable for preclinical work that ensures the safety of a treatment or a drug. Therefore, maintaining the TSD sheep flock is important to enable future research towards developing a cure for Tay-Sachs and Sandhoff diseases.

During the last 12 years, NTSAD has invested more than $400,000 toward research involving the TSD sheep model, including maintenance when the flock was first identified at the Horaks' farm in Texas, and then when they were housed at Auburn University. Previously, NTSAD made a grant to Doug Martin PhD and Auburn University to prove safety and efficacy in the Tay-Sachs sheep model. Later, after Dr. Gray-Edwards and the sheep relocated to UMass Medical School, NTSAD awarded another grant to determine the efficacy of adeno associated viral (AAV) gene therapy after cerebrospinal fluid (CSF) delivery in the TSD sheep.

Thank you Katie & Allie Buryk Research Fund, the Heringer Fund, the LOTS Research & Educational Foundation, and Vera's Fund for support to sustain the flock of sheep.

Gottlieb Scholarship Recipients

For 16 years, Judy Gottlieb has been showing support of NTSAD families via the Jeffrey Alan Gottlieb and Stanley N. Gottlieb Memorial Scholarships established in May 2005 in honor of her youngest son, Jeffrey Alan Gottlieb, who succumbed to Tay-Sachs in 1975, and her husband, Stanley N. Gottlieb, who passed away in 2001. The Scholarships provide funds for college to healthy siblings in families affected by Tay-Sachs, Canavan, GM1, and Sandhoff diseases.

The 2021 Jeffrey Alan Gottlieb and Stanley N. Gottlieb Memorial Scholarship recipients are:

Matthew Kennedy, brother of Caitlin, who had Sandhoff disease, is a first-year student attending Schreiner University. Matthew is studying pre-nursing, in honor of his sister and the many nurses who cared for her.

“Through helping other people when they are ill and extending help to their family, I can return the support and kindness offered to Caitlin and my family through our difficult journey.”

Gavin Levine, brother of Lila, who had Tay-Sachs disease, is a freshman in the Honors Program at Ohio State University. Gavin is pursuing a degree in biology and his interests include biotechnology and research, which he hopes to use to prevent others from losing a child.

“I envision I will use my study of biology to honor Lila’s life by working to give those like her a chance to live.”

Gottlieb Scholarship Recipients

Zachary Richards, brother of Cooper, who had GM-1 disease, is inspired by his brother and the nurses who cared for him. Zachary is studying nursing at Curry College.

"My dream is to become a nurse, so I can give back and work with children that have genetic disorders like Cooper...My brother lived a life that was important."

Aaron Ronaldson, the brother of Mollie and Madelyn who both have Juvenile Sandhoff disease, is a freshman at Liberty University, majoring in mechanical engineering.

"I hope to find new ways to design a lighter weight, more compact wheelchair for my sisters and others like them. I will always be thinking of them as I learn."

NTSAD ANNUAL FAMILY CONFERENCE

JULY 7-10, 2022

RENAISSANCE DENVER CENTRAL PARK HOTEL | DENVER, COLORADO

For the first time in more than three years, NTSAD families, researchers, clinicians, and rare allies will be gathering in person for the 44th Annual Family Conference. Whether you are a family, or an individual affected by Canavan, GMI, Sandhoff, or Tay-Sachs and coping with a diagnosis, providing care, or healing from a recent or enduring loss, the conference provides the latest updates in research, resources, and support for you. All are welcome.

Day of Hope 2021

Through the extraordinary efforts of NTSAD's community members, their friends and families, the 2021 Day of Hope raised more than $50,000 for research thus far.

This year marked the 11th Anniversary of Day of Hope and a decade of Hope! Day of Hope events unite people in our shared cause to find effective treatments. Since September 2011, our community has raised nearly $550,000 for the NTSAD Research Initiative.

Thanks to families and companies participating in Day of Hope and raising rare awareness and money for research. Because of you, there are now clinical trials for Tay-Sachs, Canavan, GM1, and Sandhoff Diseases

National Tay-Sachs & Allied Diseases Association

Making a Difference

In 1957 a group of parents came together and formed NTSAD. Thanks to their passion to find answers, we continue to lead the fight to treat and cure Tay-Sachs, Canavan, GM1, Sandhoff and related genetic diseases. We are committed to helping families and individuals coping with these diseases to lead fuller lives in the midst of their day-to-day struggles. These neurodegenerative diseases are fatal in children in their infantile and juvenile forms, and progressively debilitating in adults in their adult-onset form.

FAMILY SERVICES

NTSAD supports families with resources that can help from the day of diagnosis through day-to-day care, tough end-of-life decisions and beyond. With an incredible network of families ready to offer advice and share their experiences to an unforgettable annual family conference, NTSAD is there for families and individuals coping with these diseases.

ANNUAL FAMILY CONFERENCE

The NTSAD Annual Family Conference is the cornerstone of what we provide families and individuals coping with these diseases. This four-day long conference gives families the chance to come together for support, and provides tips and tools to help care for their loved ones. It inevitably recharges them to get them through the year until the next conference.

LENDING A HELPING HAND

Through the inspiring compassion of donors, NTSAD is able to offer its families the opportunity to apply for grants and scholarships to help families affected by rare genetic diseases. Whether helping with care-related expenses or enabling healthy siblings to pursue their educational goals, NTSAD grants and scholarships have been established to help families and individuals lead fuller lives.

PARENTING A CHILD WITH LIFE-LIMITING ILLNESS

NTSAD has produced an innovative film and resource guide to support families, and provide healthcare professionals a deeper understanding of the family perspective. It is now available through NTSAD.org.

AWARENESS

We are all carriers of recessive genetic diseases but standard healthcare practices do not screen everyone for all diseases because the technology does not yet exist to accurately and cost effectively screen everyone. Your doctor and/or genetic counselor can help determine, based on your family history and heritage, which diseases you are at risk to carry.

It is highly recommended to pursue carrier screening before pregnancy because the hormones can reduce the test accuracy and screening while pregnant limits reproductive options.

WHAT IS CARRIER SCREENING?

Our genes come in pairs, one from each parent. A carrier of a recessive disease is an individual who has a mutation in one copy of a particular gene that causes the gene not to function properly. Since carriers have a second working copy of the gene, they generally do not develop any symptoms of the disease, but they can pass on the gene with a mutation to their children.

Recessive Genetic Diseases

Autosomal recessive diseases are those that develop when both parents are carriers of the same condition and they both pass on their mutations to their child. Many diseases that are common in the Jewish population are inherited in an autosomal recessive pattern.

Special Circumstances

While carrier screening generally identifies carriers of recessive diseases, some individuals may discover, during the course of carrier screening, that they themselves have two mutations and are at-risk for one of the less severe or late-onset diseases on the testing panel. It is important that results be discussed with a genetic counselor.

PREVENTION

Can genetic diseases be prevented?

Until a cure is found education, awareness and prevention are the only ways to avoid heartache and loss. EVERYONE, regardless of heritage, should speak with their doctor about genetic counseling and their risk before getting pregnant.

How can I be screened for genetic diseases?

Your primary doctor or OB/GYN may order the tests but it is strongly recommended to see a genetics professional to discuss the most current information available. Depending on your health insurance, you may need a referral or you can go directly to a genetic counselor in your network to discuss screening.

Historical Perspective on Tay-Sachs & Allied Diseases – NTSAD Leading the Fight for more than 60 Years –

- 1881 - Dr. Warren Tay, British ophthalmologist, describes first recorded case of Tay-Sachs disease.
- 1887 - American neurologist, Dr. Bernard Sachs, describes neurology of Tay-Sachs disease.
- 1942 - Chemistry professor Ernst Klenk of Cologne describes accumulation of gangliosides in brain tissues of affected children.
- 1957 - Founding of National Tay-Sachs & Allied Diseases Association, Inc. (NTSAD) by parents committed to the eradication of Tay-Sachs disease and 40 allied disorders; Ruth Dunkell, President. Scientific Advisory Committee formed by Samuel Dunkell, MD.
- 1958 - Samuel Dunkell, MD and his wife, Ruth proposed a research ward at Jewish Chronic Disease Hospital (now Kingsbrook Jewish Medical Center) in Brooklyn, NY. Dr. Dunkell proposed international symposia for research scientists and organized the first genetic counseling program, with Frances Berkwits, MS, as the genetic counselor. First International Symposium, funded by NTSAD and chaired by Dr. Bruno Volk, exclusively devoted to cause and treatment of Tay-Sachs and Sphingolipidoses.
- 1962 - Lars Svennerholm, Biochemistry Professor at Gothenberg, identifies and characterizes ganglioside GM2 - a possible explanation for Tay-Sachs disease.
- 1965 - Dr. Roscoe Brady of NIH identified the chemical defect in Gaucher's and Niemann-Pick diseases.
- 1969 - Drs. Shintaro Okada and John O'Brien at University of California pinpoint absence of Hexosaminidase A in Tay-Sachs children, lower than normal level in parent carriers.
- 1970 - Drs. Larry Schneck, Bruno Volk and Carlo Valenti at Kingsbrook, Brooklyn, N.Y. use amniocentesis to diagnose Tay-Sachs disease in utero.
- 1971 - Funded in part by NTSAD, Michael Kaback, MD conducted mass community screenings to identify Tay-Sachs carriers which took place in Baltimore and New York. Tay-Sachs disease was established as the first genetic disease meeting criteria necessary for public prevention programs.
- Michael Kaback, MD and Robert S. Zeiger, MD - with the help of the National Capital Tay-Sachs Association, conducted the first community-based screening in Bethesda, Maryland to identify carriers of the gene for Tay-Sachs disease. Similar testing followed in the Baltimore and Greater Washington, DC area. Within two years, similar efforts were initiated in Toronto, Montreal, Philadelphia, Milwaukee, Miami, Minneapolis, Cleveland, Boston and New York. Tay-Sachs disease was established as the first genetic disease meeting criteria necessary for public prevention.
- 1973 - Michael Kaback, MD created the California Tay-Sachs Prevention Program and International Quality Control Reference Standard and Data Collection Program for Tay-Sachs disease carrier testing.
- 1975 - First International Conference on Tay-Sachs Disease: Screening and Prevention held in Palm Springs, CA, funded by NTSAD and the March of Dimes. Proceedings were published in a book "Tay-Sachs Disease: Screening & Prevention", edited by Dr. Michael M. Kaback, Dr. John O'Brien, and Dr. David L. Rimoin.
- 1976 - "First International Tay-Sachs Carrier Screening Workshop" Toronto, Canada, organized by J. A. Lowden, MD, PhD and Michael M. Kaback, MD, funded by NTSAD and the National Institutes of Health.
- 1978 - NTSAD First Annual Family Conference held in Philadelphia, PA.
- 1981 - NTSAD sponsors workshop session. "Tay-Sachs Disease: Progress in Testing and New Approaches" at the 32nd Annual Meeting of the American Robert J. Desnick, PhD, MD.

- 1983 - Thomas Jefferson University School of Medicine, Philadelphia, PA, Michael Reese Hospital, Chicago, IL and the Mount Sinai School of Medicine, New York, NY use chorionic villi sampled from the placenta, in utero to diagnose fetal Tay-Sachs disease in the first trimester of pregnancy.
- 1987 - Centennial of Dr. Bernard Sachs' description of first American patients with Tay-Sachs disease observed by an International Scientific Conference in New York, published as Volume 44 of "Advances in Genetics -Tay-Sachs Disease", edited by Dr. Robert J. Desnick and Dr. Michael M. Kaback.
- 1992 - NTSAD sponsors first-ever conference for individuals and families affected by Late Onset Tay-Sachs disease: a rare form of Tay-Sachs disease affecting adults.
- 1993 - Dor Yeshorim, a unique Tay-Sachs carrier screening program serving the Orthodox Jewish community, observes one decade of service; more than 40,000 people tested.
- 1995 - The American College of Obstetrics and Gynecology (ACOG) issued its first opinion statement on Tay-Sachs disease screening followed by its opinion statement three years later on screening for Canavan disease.
- 2002 - NTSAD launches the Research Initiative which disburses grants for cutting-edge research projects that can lead to treatment and cure for lysosomal or leukodystrophy diseases impacting the central nervous system.
- 2003 - NTSAD involved in lawsuit about the Canavan disease gene patent. The settlement ensures royalty free use of the gene in research to treat Canavan disease.
- 2005 - NTSAD partnered with the MPS Society to co-found the Lysosomal Storage Disease Research Consortium. With the NIH, it offered a joint grant program to support research addressing the neurological aspects of lysosomal storage disorders.
- 2007 - More than 2 million people have been screened and thousands of healthy babies have been born as a result of Tay-Sachs carrier screening.
NTSAD awards grants to the Tay-Sachs Gene Therapy Consortium Research Project (TSGT) for animal research to treat Tay-Sachs and Sandhoff diseases.
- 2009 - National Institutes of Health awards $3.6 million four year grant to the Tay-Sachs Gene Therapy Consortium Research Project.
Discovery of naturally occurring Tay-Sachs disease in rare Jacob Sheep. Carrier sheep donated to NTSAD by sheep farmers Fred & Joan Horak for inclusion in the Tay-Sachs Gene Therapy Research Project.
NTSAD hosted a CME Conference with Brigham & Women's Hospital, "Diagnosis, Management & Treatment of Progressive Neurological Disease from Infancy to Adult using Tay-Sachs Disease as a Model."
- 2011 - The First Annual Day of Hope was held. Over 100 families and their communities have now held events each September to raise funds for research.
- 2013 - The FDA grants Orphan Drug Designation for Tay-Sachs & Sandhoff gene therapy with NTSAD as the sponsor.
"Parenting a Child with a Life Limiting Illness" video and guide were made to lessen the feelings of isolation that newly diagnosed families experience.
- 2014 - NTSAD Corporate Advisory Council formed. The CAC, through its collective industry experience, serves as a resource to NTSAD to advance research to patients.
- 2016 - First GM-1 Research Meeting held.
- 2018 - NTSAD 40th Annual Family Conference held in Jacksonville, Florida.
- 2019 - NTSAD continues to fund promising innovative research, through the NTSAD Research Initiative, for neurodegenerative diseases that affect the central nervous system.
- First clinical trial opens for GM1 Gangliosidosis Type II at NIH
- First clinical trial opens for adult onset GM2 Gangliosidosis at three sites within the US
- NTSAD officially launched a webinar series on its website to bring the experts to the community to discuss topics ranging from research advances to issues that impact the family.
- 2020 - 2021 – Clinical trials launched

My Dear Susan,

*We've shared so many wonderful moments in our lives—
We've often said how blessed we are to have traveled the world – saw six beautiful grand and great grandchildren brought into the world who would bring us so much joy—Singing, dancing, laughing and look around every moment to see if you were smiling...and you were.*

I cherish the happiness you've brought into my life—from the very first night we met...WE KNEW...a year later we married and it has been a wonderful and happy 36 year journey...

Our memories will last forever—I will talk about them to anyone who will listen.

REST IN PEACE my darling, best friend—“SCOOTER SUE”... my wonderful Susan...

You will be missed by everyone whose life you've touched....

I will love you forever...

Gus

In Memory of Fran Berkwits

with love and great admiration in this year which would have been your 100th birthday

Your extraordinary and tireless commitment in the effort to eradicate the tragedy of genetic diseases has made a difference.

Your efforts in raising awareness, community carrier screening and genetic counseling touched the lives of many, bringing hope and promise of healthy families.

Your wisdom and guidance kept us on a steady course to prevention.

May each day bring us closer to finding a treatment and cure.

*Thank you for all the years you served NTSAD.
We will continue the work you started - you showed us how.*

We miss you.

In Loving Memory of
Emma Faith Zimmerman

An angel in the book of life,
Wrote down my baby's birth.
Then whispered as she closed the book,
"Too beautiful for Earth."

With Love
Dad, Mom and Jackson

In loving memory of
Charlie Yanovsky
Cherished "brother" and uncle
Forever in our hearts

An infectious smile and outgoing personality brought happiness to all who knew you.

Devotion to Gus and your family always came shining through.
Your friendship always warmed my heart.

We give thanks for your commitment and dedication to raising funds for NTSAD to find a treatment and cure.

It has always been fun to work with you on the Annual Calendar.
You and Gus made it the success it has been for so many decades.

May your memory live on in the successes you have made possible.
You are greatly missed, but always remembered.

Rest in Peace.

As I look back over time, I find myself wondering....

if I ever thanked you for the very best times we had together – like laughter, smiles and times we shared?

If I have forgotten to show gratitude enough for all the time we spent together,

I am thanking you now.

And I am hoping you knew all along how much you mean to my family and me.

Thank You

Because of your donations, you have helped to bring about new and exciting FDA clinical trials for treatments for all those suffering each and every day from Tay-Sachs - including late-onset.

And now - with these treatments and a possible cure so very, very close at hand, we ask for your help to finally turn these hopes and promises into a beautiful reality.

Gratefully,

Aunt Carol Handwerker

During the time I have volunteered with NTSAD, I have worked with many special people who have become special friends.
Sue, you are a special friend.

It has been an honor to work with you all these years. I celebrate you for all you have accomplished over the past 14 years to transform NTSAD into the strong organization it is today. Your many talents are evident in all you have done to support families and advance research toward clinical trials.

Though I will miss you, I know you are ready for the next chapter in your life.
I wish you much happiness in the years ahead.

NATIONAL TAY-SACHS & ALLIED DISEASES ASSOCIATION

National Tay-Sachs & Allied Diseases Association (NTSAD) leads the worldwide fight to treat and cure Tay-Sachs, Canavan, GM1, and Sandhoff diseases by driving research, forging collaboration, and fostering community. Supporting families is the center of everything we do.

NTSAD is one of the oldest patient advocacy groups in the country. NTSAD focuses on funding research, supporting over 500 families and individuals worldwide, and raising awareness to prevent disease.

Supporting NTSAD makes a difference!
